Room 15. C-I

A quick fun test of character, yes! Let's ignore data and the empirical for a moment and consider the following. At the end, consider what is best mastered and applied in our role.

Take a look at the strange (to want for a better word) emoticons and select the one that comes to your liking. Act quickly and try not to include logical thinking. Chose?

And that means that your choice.

(One)

The first option: you are trying to show your finer qualities to others, which includes a sense of humor (with a hint of sarcasm) and the ability not to dwell on the problems. People tend to think you are persistent and stubborn person who loves noisy society. All this is true, but only partly. In reality, you sometimes become tired of optimism masks and would love to become a whiner, so you regret it. Fortunately, this mood is the exception rather than the rule for you.

(Two)

The number two says that you do not mind taking part in some adventure, if it does not require you to find greater mental effort and material costs. Ideally, you are a true lover of pleasures, like to make friends, you entertained day and night and it is desirable for its money. Therefore, difficult to leave you close to the people who sometimes suffer extremely from your whims. By the way, do you believe that your character - is real gold, and no non-negotiable.

(Three)

Number three; you know how well to hide your thoughts. You have the typical careerist character, which in your case is a big plus. You tend toward strategic thinking and you can lead to a good ending all initiative. Often, however, you prefer not to solve problems, and avoid them. Due to this quality, you may attribute surrounding indecision. But you know something that intelligent people will not go up the hill - a clever mountain bypass.

(Four)

Fourth smiley is a measure of creative and active nature. You can vary the life of the people around and their own is due to the brilliant ideas that you visit from time to time. If due to circumstances beyond your reasons have not found a creative incarnations, you can switch to the new challenges without falling into despair because of the unfulfilled plans. As a rule, people with your character are lucky in life.

(Five)

The fifth option indicates that your character laid the basis for good fighting qualities. If in your life there are conflicts, then you possibly try to always win over the opponent. The only option when you are ready to lay down their arms - a recognition of your own wrong. After all, your character has such a quality as justice. You try to bring it started to end by virtue of innate stubbornness and around this value.

(Six)

Sixth smiley means that your character has a desire for power and the desire to lead. In this case, you are not devoid of a certain percentage of sentimentality and are prepared to do a lot for those who are in need of your patronage. People with such a character are able to endure hardship and to serve as a reliable stone wall for relatives and friends. Pathologically do not tolerate liars and traitors.

(Seven)

Seventh option: you expect from others love and understanding in exchange for its natural charm. Often, you can use the so-called "sweet lies" to get what you want, and it does not feel any remorse. Such tactics often bring their results and helps the good work to ensure that others cannot get by aggressive pressure. However, sometimes you happen to overrun, when the world becomes not nice. In this case you need to escape from depression intercourse.

(Eight)

The eighth version says that your character is gifted with a healthy share. You are able to decompose into components any problem and even find useful points in it if you wish, so friends and family do not mind to share with you. After all, you will always find comforting counterweight. In cases you do not like surprises, and people with your character choose to find a stable profitable operation.
